Travaasa Austin Meeting Planners Guide

1. Fireside Room

A warm, inviting environment, the Fireside Room is an exquisite and comfortable space for any gathering or meeting. Details include an open wood deck ceiling measuring 25 feet high at its peak, hickory/pecan floors, a centerpiece stone fireplace, and wood blinds.

2. Showroom

The Showroom, with its Barco IQ Backlit Projector, 7-1/2' by 10' screen, Dolby 7.1 Surround Sound, and automated blackout blind system, offers excellent presentation technology. Built on a hillside, the Showroom features views from oversized picture windows out over the preserve.

3. Lone Star Room

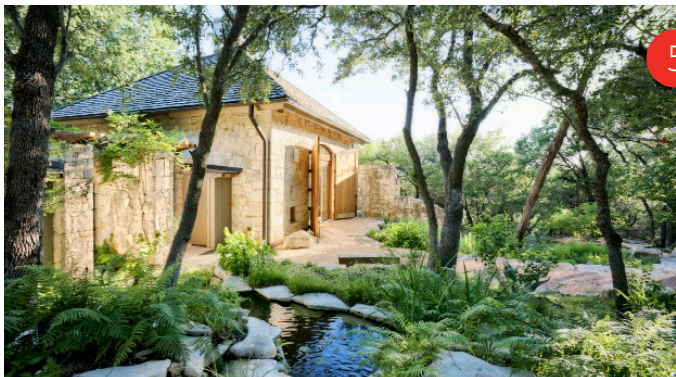

The Lone Star Room is ideal for larger meetings and events. Details include an authentic bamboo floor, tectum ceiling with exposed wood trusses, motorized blackout drapes, ceiling-mounted projector and a motorized 10' by 15' screen. Full audio-visual playback is available either through the overhead lecture sound system or the full-performance PA system with four floor boxes located throughout the hall.

4. Parlor

The Parlor is a charming choice for a small meeting. It includes comfortable couches and chairs, a wraparound porch, kitchenette, and private restroom facilities.

5. Solidago Gardens

The Solidago Gardens, featuring a spacious handcrafted wood and stone structure, is accessible by way of a forested trail and is designed as an intimate setting for meetings and receptions. The space also includes a 2,500 square foot garden courtyard.

6. Jean's Kitchen

Resting in the heart of the property, Jean's Kitchen introduces a new perspective to Texas dining. Filled with natural light and high vaulted wood ceilings, the atmosphere melds refined and rustic for a natural elegance, complete with soft worn leather couches and an inviting fireplace. Executive Chef Ben Baker truly embraces "farm-to-table" dining, and the exhibition kitchen serves as the perfect place for demonstrations by the culinary team. Prefer the outdoors? Jean's Kitchen opens up to the Mesquite Patio.

7. Mesquite Patio

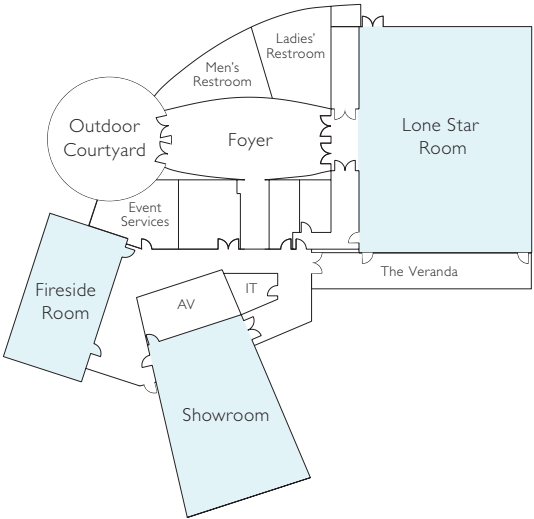

Directly adjacent to The Spur and Jean's Kitchen, the West-facing Mesquite Patio is ideal for taking in a Texas sunset over the valley. Enjoy drinks or full dinner service al fresco with a breathtaking view of the Texas Hill Country.

8. The Spur

The Spur, next door to Jean's Kitchen, is the perfect venue for private dining, an executive board meeting, a private space for celebrating or for use as a private lounge.
